REPORT OF THE BOARD

To the Commissioner of Education:

In accordance with the provision of section 14 of chapter 78 of the General Laws, the Board of Free Public Library Commissioners herewith presents its forty-eighth report, covering the work of the Division of Public Libraries for the year ending November 30, 1937.

The Board has held regular meetings on the last Monday of each month and has determined the policies to be followed by the staff of the Division of Public Libraries in extending the service to all public libraries as well as schools and state institutions throughout the state. Reports of activities are submitted by members of the staff. Particular attention has been given to the problems of the libraries in the small towns. At the outset it is well to review briefly the functions of the Division of Public Libraries. From the time of its organization it has provided advisory service on library problems. This is carried on through the medium of personal visits and consultations with librarians and library trustees, and through the dissemination of information pertaining to library activities. Special lists of recommended books and professional periodicals are distributed regularly. Detailed comparative statistics are compiled for all libraries in the state and a special collection of books and pamphlets on library administration is made available.

Summary of Library Service from the Division:

- 144 libraries—119 public, 22 school and 3 institution libraries—were visited and advice given on all phases of library administration. (See Column A in the Appendix for a list of public libraries thus aided.)
- 83 libraries in the small towns were given children's and reference books to supplement their collections in work with the schools. (See Column B in the Appendix.)
- 21,650 volumes from the Division's lending collection were lent to 287 public libraries, including 231 collections to 74 libraries and 19 rural schools (See Column C, Appendix), 21 institutions; 910 borrowed from other libraries.
- 19 addresses were made by the Staff before library training classes, women's clubs, library associations, etc., on the work of the Division and on books.
- 22 library meetings were attended.
- 4 library positions were filled through the Division's registration file.

During the past year the lending collection has been greatly enlarged to provide a better service through inter-library loan, thus supplementing local library collections with many new publications. It can be fairly stated that any person in any part of the state can go to his local library, no matter how small it may be, and procure through the State Division of Public Libraries any book which is available in any library of the state. This procedure has the effect of greatly increasing the use of the local libraries by an increasingly large number of readers.

In order to instill a proper interest in local library needs a classification has been adopted by the Massachusetts Library Association. This classification covers positions in the library service for cities and towns of over 5,000 population. Librarians and trustees are thus able to measure and develop the service of their respective libraries. In the smaller towns standards are recommended which are commensurate with the local needs and responsibilities.

Members of the staff visit the libraries and confer with librarians, trustees, superintendents of schools, and teachers, thus encouraging the local support which should be provided for the library. So far as the state appropriation allows, direct aid is given to the small library in the form of grants of children's and reference books, and aid is provided in organization, cataloging, book selection, and advice on all library problems.

Throughout the course of the year, in cooperation with the State Teachers Colleges and the Division of University Extension, special instruction is provided for persons in the library service at Institutes, which are held at stated intervals at the State Teachers Colleges, and through extension courses in Boston.

A study of Columns A, B, C, in the Appendix demonstrates the service the libraries are receiving through advisory visits and other field work, gifts of books and the lending library. The service given through correspondence or interviews with librarians and trustees is not recorded but adds greatly to this number and shows conclusively that few towns do not avail themselves of the service of the Division.

In March the Board received the resignation of Miss E. Kathleen Jones, General Secretary, who wished to retire after sixteen years' service with the Division, to take effect September 1. In accepting the resignation the Board voted to express to her their appreciation of her fine record of service with the Division. The following was incorporated on the records: "Miss Jones came to the Division in May 1921. She brought to the library service of the state a wide and intimate knowledge of books gathered during twenty-five years of work, first as assistant librarian of Radcliffe College and then as librarian in McLean Hospital. This wide reading, which she has kept up during her sixteen years with the Division, has enabled her to compile lists and give authoritative advice on book selection to the small libraries and has made her a speaker much in demand in library meetings and other organizations.

"Her outstanding contribution while in the employ of the Division has been in organizing and developing libraries in the state hospitals and correctional institutions of the Commonwealth. Her work at McLean Hospital gave her rare experience by which these institutions have benefited."

Miss Mary M. Doyle of Cambridge was appointed September 27 to succeed Miss Jones. She assumed her duties on December 1. In September Miss Louise M. Alcott, junior assistant for six years, resigned to be married. Miss Muriel A. Ballard of Milton was appointed to succeed her on October 1.

FIELD WORK

Public Libraries.—Visits were made to 119 public libraries and advice given on all phases of library administration. Requests came from 10 libraries for advice in connection with the remodeling of their buildings; from 5 libraries for surveys with recommendations for improving their service. The Library Adviser met with the Boards of Trustees in presenting these surveys and plans were outlined for carrying out the recommendations. Aid in cataloging and classifying was given to 34 libraries, in book repairing to 16 libraries (9 through the WPA project).

Schools.—Visits have been made to 22 high and junior high schools. Instruction in cataloging, classification, and aid in book selection have resulted in the organization and building up of these school libraries. The study being made by the Committee on the Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards is nearing completion and the results should be of great help to school librarians in measuring their service. At the November meeting of the New England School Library Association Mr. Paul E. Elicker, a member of the Committee, and Dr. Walter C. Eells, coordinator of the study, gave illuminating talks with lantern slide graphs showing some of the results of these investigations.

The State Certificate reading continues to be popular in the elementary schools. Teachers welcome the value of promoting a taste for good reading through this cooperation with the Division. Records of books read by the pupils are posted in the schoolrooms in many instances and certificates awarded at graduation or on special occasions. Teachers report that a definite impetus to better reading is the result. This list is used also by the small libraries as a guide for book purchases. Thus the collections of children's books are being built up from a standard list. The number of certificates distributed from the Division this year was 30,000.

Story hours sponsored by the Massachusetts Library Aid Association and planned by the Division's staff have been given in 6 towns by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cronan. These covered all grades and the junior and senior high schools.

Institutions.—Three state institutions, Norfolk Prison Colony, Charlestown State Prison, and Lyman School for Boys, Westborough, were visited. Help was given in cataloging at Charlestown and Westborough. At the State Prison an inventory was made of the library. A shelf list and a typed copy for a new printed catalog was completed. This has been submitted to the Department of Corrections and will be printed by that Department as soon as funds are available.

Twenty-one institutions have borrowed 856 volumes from the Division; 491 foreign books were sent to 11 and collections to 2 institutions. Concord Reformatory reported 203 circulations on fifty books, which shows satisfactory results from a small collection.

Library Institute.—The 20th annual Institute for librarians in small towns was held at the State Teachers College in North Adams, July 12 to 16, in connection with the summer school for teachers. Registrations numbered 54, representing 41 libraries, most of them from the western part of the state. Twenty were guests of the Division. The reference course of six lectures, with practice work, three lectures on "Budgeting the book appropriation" together with Round Table discussions, were held in the morning. The afternoon sessions included talks on picture collections, publicity, remedial reading, books for the high school age, and periodicals for the small library.

University Extension Course.—In cooperation with the University Extension Division a course in reference work was given by Miss E. Lucile Palmer, Librarian of the Attleboro Public Library, at the Boston Public Library. The attendance was 68.

WPA. Project.—The book mending project started in 1934 has continued with from one to eleven workers. This work has been done at the State House for the small town libraries. The project was suspended in July and not renewed until October. Nine towns have received this aid. Twelve hundred volumes have been repaired, including 340 volumes of the Division's collection.

Aid was given in planning and carrying out a project for cataloging the Mashpee Public Library under the National Youth Administration and advice given at West Yarmouth for a WPA project for remodeling the library.

LENDING LIBRARY

The total number of books issued from the lending library was 21,650 volumes, including those borrowed from the State Library. To fill requests 1,422 volumes were purchased and 910 volumes borrowed from other libraries.

The lending library contains for its special loan purposes a collection of up-to-date books of adult non-fiction built up mostly from requests to meet the needs of the small libraries for books they cannot afford to purchase. From the general collection 12,085 volumes were lent. As in previous years, requests for books on education have lead consistently; the useful arts were next in popularity (medicine, engineering, agriculture, domestic science, commerce etc.); psychology, history, travel and economics follow.

From this collection 123 three-month period collections have been sent to 68 libraries. The circulation of these special collections indicates a satisfactory use of them. There has been an average issue of 70 books in a collection of twenty-five volumes.

A limited collection of children's books selected from the State Certificate list is available to the small towns to supplement their juvenile books especially needed in work with the schools. The annual gift of $100 worth of books from the Sobier Fund of the Massachusetts Library Aid Association has aided materially in building up this collection. One hundred and eight collections have been sent to 25 towns and 19 rural schools.

The traveling libraries for the foreign-born consist of books in 32 languages. The circulation for the year has been 9,565 volumes in 23 languages to 132 libraries. Polish, Italian, and French languages still lead in the requests.

The lending library also acts as an inter-library loan center for exchange of books between libraries. To fill special requests for books not in the Division's collection or the State Library 910 volumes have been borrowed from the public libraries of Boston, Brookline, Cambridge, Haverhill, Newton, Somerville, Watertown, Wellesley, Weston, from Boston College, Boston Medical Library, Congregational Society, Massachusetts Horticultural Society, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Social Service Library, Social Law Library, the Harvard Dental School, the College of Pharmacy; from the state departments of Agriculture, Education, Corrections, Labor and Industries, Mental Hygiene, and Public Health. The Board of Free Public Library Commissioners appreciates greatly the generosity of these libraries in cooperating to give to the libraries of the state this service.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARIES IN 1937

Notes of Interest

Library gifts and bequests reported this year total $248,859.24. There were five bequests of $10,000 or more. Stockbridge received $50,000 from Mary Bement for a memorial wing which has been completed; Holyoke received a bequest of $17,000 from the Ives estate; Northampton $30,000 by the bequest of Judge Henry P. Field; Palmer $40,000 from the Pinney estate; Hyannis $10,000 by the will of Frank P. Hallett; Somerset $21,000 from the D. Borden Davis estate.

New branch buildings have been erected at Arlington Heights ($32,000 appropriated by the town), and at Lynn (Shute Branch bequest of $10,000 from Mary Goldsmith estate; city appropriation $44,800). New branches have been established at Billerica (Pinehurst), Bourne (Buzzards Bay), Medford (West), Natick (East and North Schools), Newton (Oak Hill Village School), Waltham (Bright School).

The interior of the Wellesley Library has been remodeled (town appropriated $15,000), and Belmont received $6,300 from the town for new heating system, work and rest room. The South Yarmouth Library Association celebrated the completion of its remodeled building by unveiling a tablet in memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Frothingham, who was the leader in making this attractive remodeled Cape Cod cottage library building possible. In memory of his wife Mr. Frothingham remodeled the upstairs of the building to provide an apartment for the librarian and has contributed a substantial sum to employ a trained librarian.

Through WPA and NYA projects many libraries have received aid in book repairing, painting and remodeling of their buildings. The interior of the Fitchburg Library has been entirely remodeled; the Chicopee Library has opened a children's room in the basement; the South Dartmouth Library has been renovated.

The "Friends of the Library" group at Ipswich has continued its efforts to raise money for books and through its efforts the interior of the library has been renovated. A fund for the enlargement of the building is being raised.

The Gloucester Library has formed a "Friends of the Library" group at Lanesville to work for the branch library there.

The Athol Library Service Association has sponsored interesting exhibits and solicited money for books. A series of lectures and a current events course were two of their activities.

The Greenfield Public Library has opened an automobile service to residents in three widely scattered parts of the town. It has demonstrated that this type of service in a single neighborhood can result in a book distribution as large as from 10 to 20 per cent of the main library circulation on the same day.
